Thunderbird Outlook/Office365 calendar

- 1. Via addon manager in TB, install tbsync addon as well as provider for exchange activesync. https://addons.thunderbird.net/en-GB/thunderbird/addon/eas-4-tbsync/ https://addons.thunderbird.net/en-GB/thunderbird/addon/tbsync/
- 2. then go to tools \rightarrow addon preferences \rightarrow tbsync
- 3. account actions \rightarrow add new account \rightarrow exchange activesync
- 4. office365 account, give name and add work email
- 5. authenticate as work account with MS password
- select the new account, enable sync, tick boxes of contacts and calendars, set periodic sync to 10 and click synchronize now button.
- 7. calendar entries now show up in lightning

not working as of Feb 2020:

- sending or responding to meeting invitations
- push sync
- Lightning sync buttons do not trigger a sync of EAS calendars also, this only shows your own calendar, not any others that may have been added to outlook.

Thunderbird Label Row Colours

To have better visibility of labels of mails in the mail list, the style can be changed by editing or creating a chrome/userChrome.css file in the Thunderbird profile directory, then restarting Thunderbird (v68+).

~/.thunderbird/something.default/chrome/userChrome.css

Thunderbird window position

Thunderbird does not remember the last window and display position. Using wmctrl and xdotool the window position can be set and it can be snapped to use top half of left-most monitor. Adjust as necessary. The adjustment to thunderbird.sh probably will be overwritten on Thunderbird update. Alternative using wrapper shell script would need to be used if that's the case:

#General command line commands for testing:
#Set thunderbird window to top left most screen
wmctrl -i -r $(wmctrl -l | grep Thunderbird | cut -d " " -f1) -e
0,0,56,1200,1087
#Snap thunderbird window to top half of screen (keycombination windows+up)
xdotool windowactivate $(xdotool search --name thunderbird | tail -1) key
"Super L+Up"
#main Thunderbird.sh script adjustment:
sudo vi /usr/lib/thunderbird/thunderbird.sh
add just before exec $MOZ_LIBDIR/$EXE "$@" at end of file:
   #Set thunderbird window to top left most screen
    (sleep 3;wmctrl -i -r $(wmctrl -l | grep Thunderbird | cut -d " " -f1) -
e 0,0,56,1200,1087) &
   #Snap thunderbird window to top half of screen (keycombination windows+up)
    (sleep 3;xdotool windowactivate $(xdotool search --name thunderbird | tail -1) key "Super_L+Up") &

Systray-X

Systray-X is an app and Thunderbird plugin to add a systray icon and enable minimise to systray for TB.

https://github.com/Ximi1970/systray-x

Installation:

curl -sL -o-https://download.opensuse.org/repositories/home:/Ximi1970/xUbuntu_20.04/Rele ase.key | gpg --dearmor | sudo tee /usr/share/keyrings/systray-x-keyring.gpg echo "deb [signed-by=/usr/share/keyrings/systray-x-keyring.gpg] https://download.opensuse.org/repositories/home:/Ximi1970:/Mozilla:/Add-ons/xUbuntu_20.04 ./" | sudo tee /etc/apt/sources.list.d/systray-x.list
sudo apt update

sudo apt install systray-x-minimal

Then restart Thunderbird.
